This is Iro-Chan!

Iro-chan is
Went to the hospital yesterday
I went there.
Regular ear check-up.

No matter how unpleasant the situation,
I suppress my emotions

Iro-chan doesn't make a sound or tremble, just like a monk in training .

The process of sucking it up with a dropper was repeated

over and over again, but I managed to endure it the whole time .

Iro-chan's specialty is
"I'll have to be patient."

e size was a little off , so I was thinking of buying a ne one , but Kaori from the florist gave i to me. It was a Ericara that the owne of a dog who had passed away had left behind

in the hope that someone would use it . Thank you so much, Light-kun in heaven! It 's perfect for Iro-chan . I hope he will cherish it!

I didn't know there was such a place in Sakura . It's the Sunset Hills Lower Pier, across from Sakura Furusato Square with its windmills . It's only a 3-minute drive from Furusato Square, but I didn't know about it, which is a shame (;_;) I found it on Google Maps . I wish I could have come here with Ka-bo-chan (;_;) I wish I could have sat by the water like this and watched the sunset .

I'm happy.
